Further details are provided below on your 5 key areas.

Sustainability

Organisations who are sustainable can demonstrate effective leadership and financial management and the ability to change, adapt and reach to market opportunities.

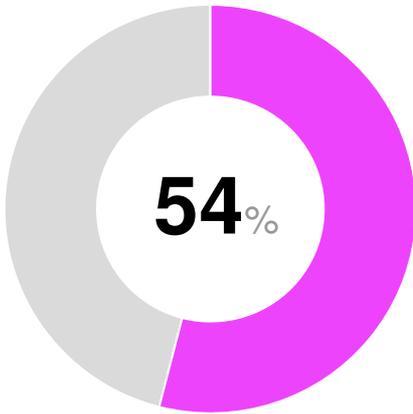

The score indicates some sustainability issues. You should identify the key areas to improve and a plan to implement changes. This may require external support.

Market & Opportunities

It is really important that the market potential is clearly understood and the opportunity genuinely achievable. An organisation may have identified a clear market with real opportunity but have some challenges to overcome in order to turn this into real success.

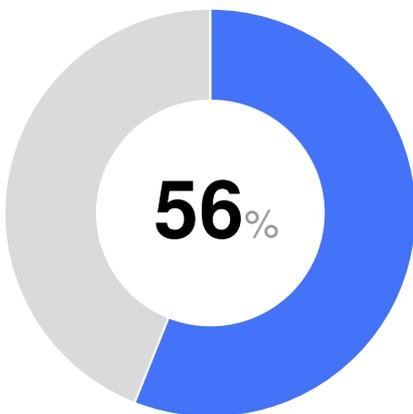

Whilst there are some clear market opportunities, this is still an area that you should review and consider any opportunities for strengthening.

Strategy & Planning

Having up to date, realistic and relevant strategic plans are vital. Such plans include overall direction and objectives for the organisation and how these will be met.

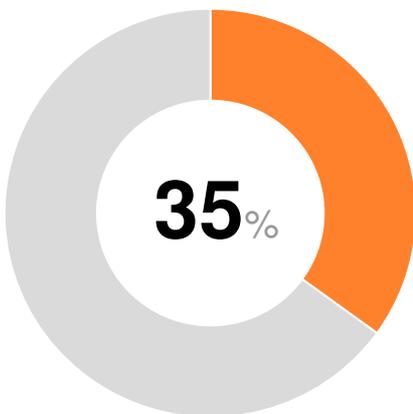

There are some significant gaps in financial control and hence a priority area to focus on for improvement.

Track Record & Capability

This is about the the performance of the organisation up to the present and its capability and readiness for the challenges ahead including its effectiveness in delivering services and in managing within its financial constraints.

This indicates a reasonable track record, although there may have been or still are some key areas that could be improved.

Quality & Impact

This covers both the quality of services provided and the impact of the organisation in its community and/or its customers.

The answers indicate a need to look at plans and opportunities to improve the strength of the organisation with regards to quality, impact and stakeholder relationships.

Organisation sustainability - strengths and areas for development

Below shows how the organisation compares with 14 key sustainability indicators. These provide a different and slightly more focused way of understanding your current situation, and are intended to complement the 5 key areas shown above.

Where a green is indicated, this is a key strength, whilst an amber or red show a key area to improve and may form part of a plan for what you need to change.
